

When you need your forensic evidence to stand up in court.

When you submit forensic evidence in court, people's lives hang in the balance. That's why the testing of that evidence has to be accurate and protected by a legally defensible chain of custody.

National Medical Services, now known as NMS Labs, is a nationally renowned toxicology and crime lab—and the only independent forensic facility in the nation certified by both the American Board of Forensic Toxicology and The American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors.

Our Forensic Toxicologists provide expert legal opinions and consultative services and have a track record of providing case-winning testimony. Whether you need post-mortem toxicology, DNA testing, controlled substance ID, or a backlog reduction, the professionals at NMS Labs stand ready to help.

When you need to know.™
